preparing police managers for the future

The College will –

- ★ Focus on the most recent management theories and topics, emphasizing process analysis and customer service.
- ★ Challenge participants with progressive thinking and innovative presentations about law enforcement management.
- ★ Revolve around off-campus consulting projects with local agencies.

38th Annual Management College

The College is an intensive eight-week program for senior level managers and administrators in law enforcement. It is university-based, challenging and prepares law enforcement personnel for leadership in the complex world of public executives. The focus of the course is on managing for community and customer-oriented results in police organizations. Nationally known faculty, including academicians and practitioners, cover a wide range of topics and issues related to public and business administration. Many graduates of the College are senior executives and police chiefs at local, state and federal levels of the law enforcement community.

Registration/Course Hours

Registration will begin at 8:00am in the lobby of The Southwestern Legal Foundation. Refreshments will be available from 8-8:30am. Daily sessions will begin promptly at 8:30am and will end at 3:30pm with a one-hour lunch break. On the concluding day of the program, a graduation luncheon will be held at 12:00 noon.

Course Materials

The classroom presentations will be supplemented by extensive written materials that will be distributed throughout the program. Classroom books, materials and supplies cost an additional $200.00.

Academic/TCLEOSE Credit

Up to six hours of university graduate or undergraduate credit is available provided a participant has completed a minimum of 54 undergraduate hours toward a four-year degree. The Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education (TCLEOSE) will recognize 240 hours of in-service credit for this course.

Mission Statement

The Management College is a university-level course designed to encourage the professional development of mid to upper-level law enforcement personnel. Its curriculum promotes the thinking skills of analysis, of synthesis and of critical evaluation.

The Management College experience prepares individuals to take part in:

- Providing leadership in their departments on problem solving and management issues.

- Applying progressive and innovative management approaches to their agencies.
- Communicating, both to their colleagues and to the public, plans and programs for change and improvement of police services.
- Growing professionally and personally as a police manager and as a stepping-stone towards top leadership.
- Gaining professional knowledge as a life-long learner and acquiring critical thinking skills about the future of law enforcement.
